

Quality policy

Olsbergs stands for innovativeness and competence as well as the aspiration that continuous improvements should characterize both our product development and production both today and in the future, and we undertake to constantly work on improving our quality system.

Olsbergs is a system supplier of electro-hydraulic control systems with overall responsibility for our products with the aim of creating satisfied customers and we undertake to fulfill the applicable requirements.

We offer our high-quality and reliable products delivered on time, which increases the products' competitiveness and profitability. We shall always provide the service, training and technical support that the customer can be expected to need.

For our customers and ourselves, a decision for Olsbergs is always a decision for quality.
